The Simplicity:

Find documents: Find resources or collections in a multitude of ways. Search by topics, tags, acronyms, keywords, organizations, or sectors. KaMP will generate a preview of your resource to make sure you have found what you are looking for.

Share documents: Share development sector publications as resources or collections. Access and build your own thematic “Collections” of resources such as Women in Energy or Civil Society Sector Assessments.

The Benefits:

Resources get a longer life: Resources, including those produced by your organization, will gain greater exposure in the development community in Jordan and live beyond the life of projects.

Save yourself time: KaMP search results provide only Jordan-related development resources and publications all in one, easy-to-access place saving you time and effort.

Instant access: The latest and most recently approved templates, tools, and resources are hosted on KaMP supporting Implementing Partners in meeting USAID standards and requirements.

Tailored to your interests: Stay up-to-date with your interests and sectors. Custom notifications will let you know instantly when related resources are added and updated to a collection you follow allowing you to stay up to date with the latest information.

Tagging: Choose from a list of topics to help classify resources and generate a list of related items, helping yourself and others to find what they are looking for.

Bilingual: Content can be uploaded in Arabic and indexed in English, giving you access to a wider host of resources in one search. Content that was once difficult to find because it was only indexed in Arabic is now at your fingertips.

The Users: The platform, designed with the development community in Jordan in mind, is publicly searchable and provides access to key resources in one place. While all resources are accessible, uploading and editing is restricted to registered users in order to protect the content.
